The Status of the 70:30 Budget Allocation and Spending Rule in Kenya

A Case of the 47 County Governments

The Status of the 70:30 Budget Allocation and Spending Rule in Kenya.

Did you know that the 70:30 budget allocation and spending rule obligates counties to allocate at least 30% of their total revenue to meet the developmental needs of a county. However, a comprehensive review and analysis of county budgets and spending patterns since 2013 reveal counties' challenges in adhering to the 70:30 spending rule. This means that many Kenyans, whom the Constitution intended to benefit from devolution, remained underserved and unable to access essential services such as education, healthcare, and food. This study assesses the current situation and the factors contributing to noncompliance with this crucial rule. Read More

Lopsided global financial system leaves many African states in debt distress.

For the poorest countries, debt has become a nearly paralysing burden: 28 countries eligible to borrow from the World Bank's International Development Association are now at high risk of debt distress. One of the contributors to Africa's debt situation has been the continent's inability to raise resources domestically to fund its own development.

The Extended Fund Facility (EFF).

The Extended Fund Facility provides financial assistance to countries facing serious medium-term balance of payments problems because of structural weaknesses that require time to address. To help countries implement medium-term structural reforms, the EFF offers longer program engagement and a longer repayment period. Learn more
